Real-Time Communication for Corporate Websites

Direct Approach. Opportunity Seized.

Bring company's public contacts to your website. The ProCall LiveChat Contact Portal allows visitors to your website to find the right contact for their needs themselves and then contact that individual directly. The integrated presence management function automatically controls the availability of individual contacts.

The multi-media business card allows every ProCall Enterprise user to utilize Internet-based real-time communication. Each individual is given their own contact page with presence and contact information, as well as the option of direct contact. And all this comes on the basis of a simple link. Simply add the link to your e-mail footer or business card and easily plan a personal video consultation with your client.

Simply integrate the ProCall LiveChat Widget into your existing website and talk directly via audio, video and text chat to your website visitors. Help your customers with problems, increase your sales and gain a better understanding of the people visiting your website. This allows you to establish and cultivate a potential customer relationship right from the start.
